DIETZ SURRENDERS;

HE AND SON WOUNDED

Defenders of Cameron Dam Give

After Office of Trigger and

Disability. The

ONE DEPUTY FOUND DEAD

Another Has His Ear Shot Off—Deputies

Had Defined Whole State for Six

Years.

Dietz is in The New York Times.

York, N.Y., Oct. 8.—Carroll was killed and three were injured before John Dietz surrendered, as $10,000 was set for the lives of the four who surrendered. While the surrender was being made, a strip of his clothes was torn from a strip on the face of a flying ship

Helen Dietz, the 14-year-old daughter of the party, continued the resistance. Her father, John Dietz, was shot in the head by Harry Walker, who was a member of the party and a former deputy sheriff. The father and mother of the two men were present at the scene.

The bodies of the two were recovered by the police. The search for other members of the party continues.

A. W. Wauters, who was shot in the head by Dietz, is said to have been a member of the party. He was severely wounded in the head and arm, and there was a bullet in his stomach.

The search for other members of the party continues.

The bodies of the two men were recovered by the police. The search for other members of the party continues.