

Preparing Global Leaders: Proposed Outcomes

UW-Eau Claire is a dynamic, diverse campus environment committed to the preparation of future global leaders.

UW-Eau Claire graduates will distinguish themselves by being culturally competent, ethically engaged, empathically humanitarian, with leadership skills preparing them for global citizenship.

Students will achieve this distinction through:

- An immersion experience in a culture other than their own.
 - Examples: International study abroad, domestic diversity exchanges, diverse learning and living environment.
- Developing an understanding of global ecology and their own position within the “web of life.”
- Experiencing a curriculum that provides the global context.
- Internalizing skills, knowledge, and values in cultural competence.
- Developing skills and abilities to function and lead in a global workplace and economy.
- Becoming highly prepared in their field of study.
- Developing effective communication, critical thinking, and planning skills.
- Developing a broad understanding of the world’s critical problems.
