

Campus Master Plan open house

The following e-mail message was sent Oct. 13, 2009, to all UW-Eau Claire employees.

Colleagues,

UW-Eau Claire is currently engaged in creating a Campus Facilities Master Plan. The Campus Master Plan will reflect our strategic and academic planning efforts and help guide facilities and physical plant development for the next 20 years.

Recently, consultants were on campus to gather information about current and future space needs. The next step in the process is to have discussions regarding development of our physical environment. On October 19 and 20, representatives from our consultants, JJR, will be on campus to conduct a series of focus groups and to hold a campus open house.

The open house is scheduled Tuesday, October 20, from 8-9 a.m. in The Dulany, Davies Center. A light breakfast will be served.

During the open house, JJR will solicit input about the condition of facilities on campus — what's working, what's not, and what needs to be improved. All participants will be encouraged to speak candidly about our existing facilities and physical plant, possible opportunities, preservation/development priorities, and future goals. Questions that may be asked include: What are currently the best and worst places on campus and why? What is missing from campus that is necessary to achieve our strategic goals? How do campus facilities help/hinder you in teaching or performing your duties?

On behalf of the Campus Master Planning Committee, I invite you to participate in the open house, as your input is vital to the success of this important project. So we know how many people to expect, please RSVP to Jan Sloan at sloanj@uwec.edu.

We look forward to your participation.

Sincerely,

Chancellor Brian Levin-Stankevich, Ph. D.
