

1950'S

GERALD L. ANDERSON (1959)

6004 Hickory Stick Lane, McKinney, TX 75070
badgerboy61@sbcglobal.net

I am retired from Procter & Gamble Co. My career involved planning, marketing, and sales - test market for Pampers diapers in Baltimore/Washington D.C. was the major event in my career. Also had three children in "cloth" diapers during the Pampers launch. Guess who was the "hero" of my family and neighborhood? Sampling helped immensely and the product was, and still is a success story! I have been married for 46 years. We have three children (two boys live in Texas and daughter lives in Colorado) and 7 grandchildren. We enjoy couples bridge and regular golf outings with my "ROMEO" Club (Retired Old Men Eating Out). Texas weather is A-OK for golf most of the year - very little snow in North Texas, few/no "skeeters", deer flies or ticks.

RAYMOND S. VOLD (1959)

12554 Kelly Sands Way, Fort Myers, FL 33908
rsvold@aol.com

I am currently retired. My econ degree provided for a successful business career and I became President of a Multi-National Company. We have three children and five grandchildren. Four generations have graduated from UWEC - Aunt Selma Vold (1920), Raymond Vold (1958), Son Michael Vold (1979) and Granddaughter Sarah Vold (2007). I am a Charter Member of Beta Upsilon Sigma. My genealogist specialty is Norwegians and I love to travel internationally.

1960'S

TIM RUSSELL (1962)

7655 161st St., Chippewa Falls, WI 54729
ctruss@charter.net

I am currently self employed as a real estate investor. My economic degree greatly contributed to my self-made success. After graduating, I spent my first four years as a naval officer, then had a second career as a small town Ford dealer. My last and continuing career has been as a realtor and home and commercial builder. As my finale, I own and manage a medium size commercial and residential rental portfolio. I have been married to my wife, Connie, for nearly 49 years. We have two grown married children and four grandchildren. We've lived on Lake Wissota for 35 years. We are currently shopping homes in southwest Florida with the hope of spending part of the winter there. We enjoy traveling, reading, biking, and spending time with our children and grandchildren.

JIM DEROUIN (1965)

12827 N. 130th Place, Scottsdale, AZ 85257
jDerouin@steptoe.com

I am a partner in Steptoe & Johnson, an international law firm. As an environmental lawyer, I deal with penalty calculations and present worth calculations dealing with valuing projects and economic estimates dealing with issues such as global warming impacts. My economics background has been extremely helpful in understanding and evaluating these issues. I had my law degree when I spent two years in the Peace Corps in Brazil. They ignored my law degree, but referred to me as "Dr." because of my BA in economics. They referred to me as an "economist." Beyond understanding numbers, economics teaches you to understand and use theory -- because it is a theoretical science. That training is extremely helpful in problem solving in law. We are in an era when our leaders "know" all the answers and there is a reluctance to both think about issues and to "sift and winnow." I think economics is a very helpful field of study because it allows for the consideration of numerous variables at one time in reaching a conclusion. It has helped me and I still love it as a subject. To me it is not a "dismal science."

I have been married to Judy Market of Eau Claire for 35 years. We have two daughters, Staci Joelle and Lynsi Carniele, and two granddaughters, Graisyn and Eliza. I attempt to golf and love to deep sea fish.

1970's

CHARLES "Chuck" GRAUPNER (1974)

CPGraupner@michaelbest.com

I am a lawyer at Michael Best & Friedrich LP, a Milwaukee based law firm of 300 lawyers. My legal practice focuses on business and real estate litigation. Thus, I frequently have the opportunity to work with economists as expert witnesses, and to cross-examine economists, on the subject of economic damages, which are often projected into the future. So I do have occasion to consider the difference between marginal costs, average costs, fixed costs and variable costs. I also handle a lot of eminent domain litigation which are involved in the concept of property valuation, including the interesting question of what economic harm is caused to a property when part of it is taken by government. Since many lawyers find anything dealing with numbers to be formidable, I think my econ background sometimes gives me an advantage.

I met my bride of 31 years when I had office hours as an economics tutor in the old reading room in the UWEC Library. She came in the evening before a test of Fred Kolb's and thought I would know what questions would be on the exam. She was very disappointed that I actually tried to teach her something. Some time thereafter she and her roommate coaxed me from the library for drinks at the Old Home drinking establishment. I think she ended up with a C in Dr. Kolb's course, despite the extra tutoring, but we did get married and have 3 wonderful children, the youngest of whom is now a junior at Loyola University in Chicago. The oldest both have their masters degrees and are now gainfully employed with benefits, the point at which parents high five each other and proceed to their lake home.

I have supposedly been listed as a mentor for economics students for many years but have never received a call. Not that I have any special wisdom but I could possibly offer some insight for those students looking for a career path, and particularly one that involves real estate or law.

STEVE KOHL (1976)

3259 Staghorn Court, Marietta, GA 30062
stevkoh1@bellsouth.net

I am currently unemployed due to volatility in the financial services industry which caused my last employer to close. I was married in November of 2005 for the second time. I have two stepchildren and 4 grandchildren. I play league tennis year round.

JOHN MIELKE (1976)

147 Lakefield Ct., Racine, WI 53402
mielkej@uwp.edu

I am employed at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside and I'm basically a pretty uninteresting guy.

DAVID P. JEWELL (1977)

6393 S. Helena St., Centennial, CO 80016
DavidJ@jja.com

I have been employed at Jewell Insurance Associates for the past 24 years. My econ degree gave me a thorough understanding of the intricate dealings in running a business of your own. I have been married for 19 years and have two children, Alexandra (16) and Victoria (14). I am an avid golfer, scuba diver and love to travel.

KATHY HANSEN (1978)

435 Briars Bend, Alpharetta, GA 30004
kathryn.hansen@sap.com

I am employed at SAP America. My first position out of college was a Rate Analyst with Northern States Power and my economics degree was very integral. I am not married, but have two 4-legged children that are pointing dogs and we spend a lot of time in the field.

HARRY M. KAISER (1979)

17 Chase Lane, Ithaca, NY 14850
hmk2@cornell.edu

I am currently a professor at Cornell University. After graduating from UWEC I went onto graduate school and received a Ph.D. in applied economics. I am married to Kathy Beissner, who is a professor of physical therapy at Ithaca College. We have three children, ages 9-14. I love to travel, golf, and am a movie enthusiast. I was named the Gellert Family Professor of Applied Economics and Management at Cornell University in May of 2008. This prestigious named professorship, established by Cornell alumnus George Gellert, carries an endowment to be used for research and teaching purposes. I will be on sabbatical from Cornell in the fall of 2008 and my plans are to write a book on optimization models in applied economics, and will travel extensively.

1980's

FORD J. BROWN (1980)

300 E. 17th Avenue #1428, Denver, CO 80203
Ford.J.Brown@xcelenergy.com

I am currently employed at Xcel Energy in Colorado. I have found that studying economics enables me to apply logical thinking for projects at my work.

DAVID J. BISSETT (1982)

14 Par Del Rio, Clifton Park, NY 12065
cpcc@nycap.rr.com

I am a minister at Clifton Park Community Church. I do some writing and teaching on the side — Logic, Economics and Moral Philosophy/History. Economics provides a great exposure to thinking in terms of relationships, behaviors and patterns. I have been married to my college sweetheart for 23 years and we have seven children. We enjoy upstate NY. We both do lots of teaching in a local private school setting. I also am in the local Rotary Club (as Secretary) and an Assistant Scoutmaster with the Boy Scouts. I have attended some continuing education seminars in economics, and I wear my UWEC "flying pig" T-shirt as often as possible.

MARC S. STANKE (1983)

W275 S2188 Kame Terrace Court South
Waukesha, WI 53188
mcstanke@wi.rr.com

I am an Advance Placement Economics, Economics, and Social Studies Teacher at Brookfield Central High School. This past spring, one of my economics teams won the spring edition of the Wisconsin Stock Market Simulation. This team grew its $100,000 initial capital to $165,000 during the 10 week long simulation beating 2600 other teams in Wisconsin for an all-expense paid trip to New York City to visit the NYSE, Statue of Liberty, a Broadway play, and other landmarks. I continually am thankful for the economic knowledge my UWEC economic professors taught me. Their enthusiasm for the subject and craft has transferred onto me and thus, my students, too. I have been married to Julia, a 1983 UWEC grad, for 25 years this November. We have two children, Christopher (23), a 2nd year medical student at the Ohio State University, and Deisha (20), a junior at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, studying French and Communications with a desire to become an attorney. We would love to hear from old friends and classmates from UWEC at stankem@elmbrooks.schools.org.
