From the book jacket:
"The poems in Love's Bluff are gutsy, burning with belief, unafraid of the heart. Patti See's voice is honest and unassuming, giving us innocence and wisdom in the same smooth breath... Her funny and heartbreaking words read as real stories about the sorts of people you once knew, you now know, or you yourself are... but it's her clever wit and I-wish-I'd-thought-of-that lines that make Love's Bluff a lot like Leinenkugel's—an intoxicating Chippewa Falls export."
