This article provides a comprehensive explanation of why the US invasion of Iraq was a strategic mistake and accounts for the many tactical errors that were subsequently made in its implementation. The article also points out that a US-Iranian rapprochement is indispensable in stabilizing Iraq and securing the future of the Persian Gulf.