I answered the invitation to author three encyclopedia articles. These include a major 3,500-word entry on sports journalism and sportswriters, along with a 2,500-word entry on digital journalism across Europe, and a 1,500-word entry on the history of Minneapolis-St. Paul journalism. These will appear in the peer-reviewed, six-volume, 3,000-page Encyclopedia of Journalism that prestigious Sage Publications is premiering this fall. According to Sage, the $795 Encyclopedia of Journalism covers all significant dimensions of journalism including: print, broadcast, and Internet journalism, U.S. and international perspectives, and history, technology, legal issues and court cases, ownership, and economics.
