

QUESTIONS FOR STUDENTS WHO PLACE INTO 104, 106, 108, 109, 203, 246

1. Are you interested in going on in Math at the college level?
➔ Then you should take Math 109.
2. Are you interested in Special Education or Middle Childhood/Early Adolescence (Elementary Education)?
➔ Then you must take Math 203 once you are declared.
3. Are you interested in a Business major?
➔ You should take Math 109, leading to Math 111.
4. Are you interested in Nursing?
➔ Nursing requires Math 246, but you will take it later. If you want to take a math course that keeps your options open, Math 246 is the one.
5. Are you interested in Athletic Training, Kinesiology-Human Performance or Physical Education?
➔ Then you will take Math 246 (not usually in your first semester)
6. Are you interested in Social Work?
➔ You will take Math 246, usually during your second semester.
7. Are you interested in a science, computer science, math, engineering?
➔ Then you should take Math 109 leading to Math 113 (and beyond).
8. Are you interested in Psychology?
➔ If you are sure you don't want to go on in Mathematics, and you know you want the Bachelor of Arts Degree (requires 102 foreign language competency), then you could take Math 104.
➔ If you want to keep your options open for the B.S. (more math and science, no language required), then you should take Math 109.
9. For students whose major falls within the College of Arts and Sciences: Are you interested in completing the foreign culture or study abroad option rather than the foreign language option and would therefore consider the Bachelor of Science? Then you should take Math 109 and then either Math 111 or 113 and 114.

If none of the above situations apply to you, then you can consider the following courses:

Math 104 (Finite Mathematics)

Math 106 (Introduction to Mathematical Thinking)

Math 108 (Earth Algebra)—NOTE: If you change your mind and want to go on in math, you can do so from this course. Students who take Math 108 can take Math 112 or, if they get a B or higher, they can take Math 111.
