• Dean Hoadley led the UPC in a discussion of our Gold Arrow process. She identified areas in which implementation has not been effective and provided suggestions about how to engage the Vice Chancellors and deans in helping to identify the annual priorities and to oversee improvement work. She encouraged the UPC to meet annually with the Chancellor, Vice Chancellors and deans to create multi-year initiatives that will address strategic goals and involve the campus in work they are already doing.

• In follow-up discussion, the UPC developed the following diagram for potential Gold Arrow process change (thanks to artist Steve Drucker):

```
