Whether you are a beginning or experienced grantseeker, this workshop will help you to better plan and develop grant applications to private foundations and government agencies. You will learn to:

- understand sponsors’ “value glasses”
- match your needs with sponsor funding priorities
- identify the primary elements in grant proposals
- write persuasively and avoid common mistakes

A systematic approach to grant writing will facilitate your ability to secure the funds necessary to engage in a variety of educational, research, outreach, and other scholarly endeavors.
