University Honors Program

Living-Learning Community

We happily invite all first-year Honors students to apply to live in the Honors Living-Learning Community (LLC). Led by dynamic Honors resident assistants and experienced Honors student mentors, the Honors LLC offers the grand opportunity for students to live, study, socialize, play, serve, and grow together with their Honors peers.

The Honors LLC is proud to be housed in Bridgman Hall on upper campus. To learn more about Bridgman and UWEC residential life, visit www.uwec.edu/housing.

In addition to being members of the University Honors Program, students in the LLC are involved in many other things, including athletics, research, Hall Council, the Blugold Marching Band, and study abroad; to name just a few. LLC students share a passion for life and learning that makes the Honors LLC a center for the vibrant social, cultural, and intellectual life of the University Honors Program.

Honors LLC Members enroll in a minimum of 3 Honors credits per semester and join in University Honors Program, LLC, and Bridgman Hall activities that build leadership skills and create excellent opportunities for residents.

Space in the Honors LLC is somewhat limited, so you should act soon. To do so, follow these steps:

(1) Accept your Honors Program invitation by filling out and sending in the form at the bottom of your invite letter, or by going online at uwec.ly/honors.

(2) Apply for housing (if you haven’t done so already). You will need to:
- Submit a $75 housing deposit
- Submit your housing application at www.uwec.edu/housing/residencehalls/apply.htm.

Please don’t forget — Indicate on your housing application that you are interested in living in the Honors Program LLC.

To learn more about the Honors LLC, please get in touch with Dr. Jeff Vahlbusch, Director of the University Honors Program, at 715-836-4490 or vahlbusj@uwec.edu.

We look forward to welcoming you to our community.
