

Post baccalaureate sequence for potential graduate students

This is the list of courses for those students with undergraduate degrees other than CSD who are interested in applying for the UW-Eau Claire CSD graduate program. Students must have earned at least 30 CSD credits before beginning the graduate program. We recommend that you complete more than 30 credits, however, because you will need to complete the remaining credits during our graduate program. You can apply to our graduate program before completing all of the required credits, however. Successful completion of these courses does not assure students a spot in our graduate program.

P = Prerequisite courses

F = Fall/ Sp = Spring / Su = Summer

The 30 credits must include these courses or ones that are equivalent:

CSD 256 - Anatomy & Physiology of the Speech Mechanism (4) F, Sp, Su

CSD 257 - Normal Communication (Language) Development (3) F, Sp, Su

CSD 262 – Phonetics (2) F, Sp, Su

CSD 353 - Speech and Hearing Science (3) F, Sp, Su

CSD 373 - Basic Audiology (3) – P: 256 and/or 353 Sp, Su

The 30 credits must include at least 3 of these 4 courses or ones that are equivalent:

CSD 321 - Aural Rehabilitation (3) – P: 373

CSD 326 - Voice and Resonance Disorders (3) – P: 256 and 353

CSD 331 - Developmental Language Disorders (4) – P: 257

CSD 358 - Phonological Disorders (3) – P: 257 and 262

The 30 may include any or all of these courses or ones that are equivalent:

CSD 370 - Clinical Procedures (3) – P: 358 or 331

CSD 378 – Introduction to Sign Language (3)

CSD 440 - Neurological aspects (2) - P: 256

These courses total 36 credits. Although only 30 are required for admission to the graduate program, if not taken prior to entry into the graduate program, the remaining must be taken during the program, unless we accepted a comparable course you completed at another campus. Determination of course equivalency is made by the department chairperson and graduate program coordinator.

These courses can be sequenced in a variety of ways; however, students need to consider prerequisites. As you think about the number of courses you want to enroll in each semester, also consider family, work and other personal responsibilities. Enrolling in two courses per semester works well for most students. The recommended total number of hours to allot for a three-credit course is at least 12 hours per week. To be eligible for financial aid, post-baccalaureate students must register for 6 credits in a given semester.
