Riding with Santa

*Asian American Animation (U.S.)
SunChime Publishing House (China)*

The co-authored book Riding with Santa was created for children's awareness of the environmental conditions through Santa's journey across the world. The contents depict situations of deforestation, climate change, air pollution and global warming, bringing generations' attention and effort to keep the earth green. Written in four languages – Chinese, English, German and Spanish – the project is an interdisciplinary collaboration of German and Spanish with the Department of Languages. The book was published in the United States by Asian American Animation Company. The Chinese and English bilingual version was also published by SunChime Publishing House in the People's Republic of China.
