World Record! Eliud Kipchoge Marathons 2:01:39

Track & Field News

This is a story that details how Eliud Kipchoge broke the world record in the marathon written for Track & Field News, the sport's leading publication with world-wide subscriptions – including our library. I began writing for Track & Field News in 1985 as a journalistic component of my Geography of the Marathon research that also includes making maps of marathon courses, and marathon competitions. In this capacity I have become known as “Professor of Marathon,” a title bestowed on me by Haile Gebrselassie who also provided inspiration for the Pace Display System that I operated in Berlin and the six previous world records including two by Haile in 2007 and 2008.
